

Syllabus ANTHOLOGY Class

Sept - April, Draft to Publication, with a one week holiday in December.

Prep for class: Sign Contract, Author pic, Bio, get the APP, review workbook.

RECOMMENDATION: Start journaling daily. May use free prompts at tamilowe.com/journal. Your brain will have a lot to say about this project. Getting it all out on paper gives you a choice of what to think about becoming an author. Benefit: sets up your writing habit.

What you'll get:

- Free consultation to see if we're a good fit.
- Enroll by July 15 - Enrollment SWAG mailed package with books, syllabus, writing workbook and other goodies.
- A guided and supported 29-week course with weekly assignments and group meetings online.
- Weekly support with a certified life coach to process emotion.
- A writing partner for accountability or with higher enrollment, a writing circle.
- A spreadsheet with weekly details: class zoom replays, links, resources, instruction videos and worksheets all designed to make the process EASY.
- Established group co-writing time six hours a week: Tuesday, Wednesday, Saturday 11AM-1PM Eastern.
- Marketing and Launch structure and tips, podcast interview, audio book, public book club chat.
- Replicable process for writing a full-size book.

What you'll do:

- You will get your story out of your head and onto a google doc. This can be cathartic, easy or painful, depending on how much of the past you have processed. I will meet with you in the first week of writing. We encourage you to reach out for help as we go. I may recommend therapy if you need more help processing pain.
- You will write a minimum of 625 words weekly for eight weeks and we'll revise for seven weeks. This will require an intentional schedule, which we will talk about in week 1.
- You will make decisions to edit your own words. We will make it easy with suggestions on a developmental level (a 10,000 foot view), copy edits and itty-bitty line edits to refine and polish your work, preparing it to be a smooth gift for others to read and experience.
- Sign an Author Contract, including details of copyright, royalty payments, etc., designed to help protect you and your words.
- Pre-class homework: Be ready to go!
- Keep the easy, steady deadlines. Give yourself the gift of following through with your intentions, your plans. A decision to not hold to deadlines usually leads to a decision not to be in the book.
